

Widow and Baby Destitute

Help Needed to Send Mother and Child to Country

On the last day of January a young woman lost her husband, and a month later, her baby, seven months old, died suddenly, in convulsions. One other child, two years old, became sick whilst the mother's attention was taken up with her sick husband, is still suffering from throat and ear trouble, and requires her whole time and care. The mother herself is utterly exhausted. Both are destitute.

This appeal is made by the Widowed Mothers Fund Association for aid for the mother and baby, until they are well. It would be advisable to send them to the country, but they cannot be separated.

Any one wishing to relieve these harrowed sufferers will kindly send gifts to Mrs. Henry Zuckerman, 52 Broadway, or to the rooms of the association. Thanks are offered to N. M. R. for $5, and to Baby Melroy for $2 in response to a previous appeal.

Polished German Worked Long to Gain Widow's Confidence

Robber Disappears When Victim Gives Him Jewel Bag to Hold in Store

Details of a shopping trip which ended in a Fifth Avenue department store with the sudden disappearance of a suave and courteous German to whom had been entrusted $30,000 worth of jewelry and $400 belonging to Mrs. Mary Strangmann, a Buffalo millionaire, led the police to believe yesterday that they faced the task of running to earth one of the smoothest of international crooks.

Their suspicions were confirmed by Mrs. Strangmann's story of the manner in which this 1917 Baffler, posing as a wealthy German physician, a Heidelberg graduate, had sought persistently since early in January to gain her friendship and confidence. His efforts culminated in the robbery, which occurred March 10.

Attempting yesterday to pick up the twelve-day-old trail of the German, detectives went with Mrs. Strangmann to the Rogues' Gallery, where she examined the pictures of hundreds of other confidence men, graduates of the country's prisons. She could identify none of them as her late acquaintance, but detectives said last night they believed they could, if they cared to, tell her his real name.

The man under suspicion is known to have been in New York on the day of the robbery. Where he is now is another question.

Offered $700,000 for Brewery

This affable German, giving the name of Dr. Karl B. von Edwards, appeared in January at the office of Mrs. Strangmann's lawyer in Buffalo, and after meeting her offered to purchase for $700,000 her interest in a Buffalo brewery, owned by her late husband, of whose $1,000,000 estate she is sole heir. While the offer was under consideration von Edwards made the acquaintance of Mrs. Strangmann's circle of friends, meeting her on several occasions at social functions. One dinner party the physician gave cost $150.

He stopped at Buffalo's best hotel, always appeared to be well supplied with money and sometimes spoke casually of his large property holdings in New York. He learned that Mrs. Strangmann made biennial shopping trips there. When she left Buffalo on March 8, on one of these, he appeared on the same train, explaining that his property needed his personal attention. Mrs. Strangmann went to the Hotel Astor, where von Edwards called the next day and invited her to go motor-ing. In the course of the ride they stopped at an apartment house on Washington Heights, indicating that it was his property, von Edwards went inside for a few minutes, having threat-

Rush for Insurance

Deluges U. S. Bureau

Removal of Restrictions on Contraband Diverts Business from Private Concerns

Washington, March 22.—A deluge of applications for insurance and ship contracts from virtually every section of the American seaboard rolled into the government's war risk insurance bureau to-day, notwithstanding the rate increases of yesterday, amounting to some instances to more than 60 per cent.

Child Told of Prison

The only thing that Matilda Quinn, with her Irish loyalty to her man, didn't get around to telling the little girl was the fact of her father's whereabouts. But a week ago she was suddenly attacked by blood-poisoning and grew rapidly worse. In terror, she told Lillian that "Daddy" was in Sing Sing, and that she must be very good to him when he came out again, and "Mummy" would be up to him if "Mummy" wasn't there.

Her one wish was to see her husband again. Lillian told Dr. Irving Sistrup and Assistant Superintendent W. C. Quinn of the hospital all about "Daddy," and how maybe "Mummy" would be all right if she could see him again. At last, with their help, she took her plea to Governor Whitman.

So yesterday John Quinn, outside prison walls for the first time in four years, bowed his head to a hospital bed and said brokenly that he had been to blame for it all.

"It's all right, Johnnie," whispered Matilda Quinn. "Only Lillian. You won't let her be brought up in a 'house'."

"No, no," vowed John Quinn. "I'll take care of her when I get out. I'll make it up to her, and to you, Matie, if you will just wait."

Neither of them could wait "wait" to-morrow will probably show. The doctors said last night that there was the merest chance for her recovery. Meanwhile Quinn lay again in his cell at Sing Sing. And the little girl, who had done her best for them both, went to sleep with her doll in her arms.

Charwomen's 'Crime'

Reports $8 Lottery in Municipal Building to Swann, Marks and Mitchell

Thirty-three scrubwomen employed in the Municipal Building and two men employees of the Bureau of Public Buildings may be indicted for conducting and participating in a lottery sale of $8 worth of table silver. The crime was discovered by Commissioner of Accounts Wallstein, who, after a thorough investigation, has sent a lengthy report of his findings to Mayor Mitchell, Borough President Marks, Police Commissioner Woods and District Attorney Swann.

In his report to the District Attorney, Commissioner Wallstein recommends that the prosecutor proceed under the penal law and advertise the plated ware for sale at auction and turn the proceeds over to the county "for the benefit of the poor."

Commissioner Wallstein finds that a named Philip Indick, John M. Corrick, a special attendant, to sell fifty chances on the ware at the rate of one cent to 50 cents a chance. McCormack said he turned the matter over to John L. Burns, an acting for-man. Burns has been suspended for his part in the lottery.

"Mr. Wallstein has given me the names of the thirty-three scrubwomen, and I have turned over the facts to my assistant, Miss E. T. Talley. I am sure that he will give the matter very careful attention," said the District Attorney yesterday. "What is really troubling me," he added, with marked gravity, "is to follow Mr. Wallstein's advice about auctioning off the silverware without incurring considerable expense to the county."
